Craftfulness Festival

SPONSORED BY

Hello and welcome

We're delighted to be back with the Craftfulness Festival, our latest CCS virtual event, with a mindfulness twist.

Lots of people have struggled with mental health through the Pandemic and we as crafters know the healing benefits that making can bring. We want everyone who has discovered or re-discovered the delights of crafting through the lockdown to continue with their creativity and spread the word, "Crafting should be for Life, not just for Lockdown", as the benefits are huge!

The idea of our festival is to slow down, take time out for yourself and get absorbed in a new or favourite craft. And remember, the beneficial effects of creating aren't dependent on skill or talent; it's all about having a go!

The event begins on the 17th April, accessed through our Facebook page and is available up to 29th May, giving you the amazing opportunity to plan your days and to try something new over the following six weeks.

Please take a look through this guide for timetables, equipment lists and artists details. There's over 50 hours of crafting tutorials by well-known experts, authors and creative makers, including the Royal School of Needlework, Susan Briscoe, Emma Varnam, TotallyBeads, Jenniffer Taylor, Debbie Shore, Tilly Rose, The Arty Crafty Place and so many more.

Plus you'll find links direct to the specific kits in our shop, designed exclusively for this event. Make sure that you visit our online 'Shopping', to buy these kits and products, in advance or on the day, plus there are lots more CRAFTING BUNDLES you can't get anywhere else!

<https://shop.creativecraftshow.co.uk>

Once again we are grateful to have Janome as our main Headline Sponsor, and thanks also goes out also to our wonderful Den Sponsors including: The Makerss, Search Press and Bert & Gerts who all help to make these events possible.

Faux Nué - Shading Over Couched Threads with Kate Pankhurst and Kathryn Saunders, Royal School of Needlework (RSN)

Inspired by the beautiful effects created in Or Nué Goldwork, 'Faux Nué' uses DMC/Anchor stranded threads, couched down with different colours to create this charming apple tree. The background rows are stitched in a regular pattern known as 'bricking', while the colour threads are introduced to build up the design. A mesmerising and satisfying technique!

There is no pattern for this Workshop. You will draw freehand a small tree on to your fabric. In the workshop, the Tutor, Kate Pankhurst, will teach you how to complete a few rows by going through the technique thoroughly, and you will finish the piece in your own time.
